Immigration Services

Today, obtaining approvals from the USCIS is a challenge, with so many complicated rules and requirements. It requires regrouping, observing trends and finding best strategies, reducing hardships faced by clients with affordable cost. Chugh, LLP understands these requirements, and provides clients with a thorough understanding of what is being filed on their behalf and why certain personal or confidential documents are being submitted to USCIS. Consequently, the firm has become more cognizant of the importance of providing complete and accurate information upon initiation of a case.

Chugh, LLP stays informed about regulatory changes through in-house training, immigration conferences, networking with other immigration attorneys, and more. Besides businesses, Chugh, LLP also assists individuals and families reach their immigration goals by providing them advice and guidance for matters such as visa applications, green cards, citizenship and naturalization, deportation issues, and employment for non-citizens, and in parallel, helping the US economy due to more and more contributions from these immigrants and non-immigrants workers.
